

IMANI RADIO AND TV WINS 2018 KUZA BROADCAST OF THE YEAR AWARD.

Imani Radio and TV ministries have been recognized as the best media house in the country bagging two awards. The media house was recognized as “Broadcaster of the Year”. They were also ranked as the 2nd runners up in the Copyright Awards Category.

KUZA Awards was organized by Communications Authority of Kenya (CA) with the aim of rewarding stations that have done well throughout the year. The communication Authority Director General Francis Wangusi said the awards will continue in the coming years to ensure efficient use of media resources including human and inhuman resources to impact the community. “This award aims at motivating broadcasters to devote their energies and resources to offer quality services to the consumer, considering the strong influence broadcasting exerts to society on language, culture, morals, values, and our worldview.”

Imani family would like to thank their listeners and viewers for enabling the ground breaking victory. We will forever be grateful to God, you our listener and viewers for your continuous support.

It must also be noted that nominations for Kuza awards were done nationally meaning Imani Radio & TV were competing with established media houses with massive resources, but despite all these, God gave us victory. God gave grace to Imani to bring glory to himself so that people will say Imani could not have won, but because God stepped in, that is why they became winners! Glory to the almighty God.
